DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 6-8, 15,16, 18-27,33 and 34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Meyer et al. (USPN 4,004,883).

Meyer discloses a support is provided which is arranged to accommodate a plurality of open-ended receptacles such as test tubes ( cup R). The support includes openings and retainer members which cooperate to frictionally embrace the sides of the tubes so as to permit limited orbital motion of the tubes with respect to the openings (fig. 1). The cups (tubes) fit through opening and flanges that engage the surface portion of the tray (11) around the openings to prevent the entire cup from passing through the openings. The tray is a generally flat plate (fig. 1, ref. 11). A cover member (34) for forming a manifold over the tray and cups is provided (fig. 1, ref. 34). The cover member is opening in the middle and fully capable of passing a gas or a liquid therethrough into the test tube. The tray is capable of rocking (abstract).

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 5/26/09 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's argue, "The Meyer '883 patent fails to teach the use of an integral flange on the tubes shown, and depends upon friction devices comprising retainers 13 for holding the test robes in place." Retainers 13 act as flanges for retaining the cups (test tubes) when they are placed through the openings.
